COVID-19 AND PETS

Canine and Feline Wellness

There is currently no evidence that pets or other domestic animals that are naturally exposed to SARS-CoV-2 become sick with COVID-19 or spread the virus to other domestic animals, and no evidence that they can transmit SARS-CoV-2 to people. Accordingly, there is no reason to remove pets from homes even if COVID-19 has been identified in members of the household, unless there is risk that the pet itself is not able to be cared for appropriately.

PCS Travel

If you and your pet are planning to PCS please contact the veterinary center so we may provide you with the most up to date information.

Rabies Vaccination Services

Due to limited resources and to reduce exposure to our staff, we will only be providing rabies vaccines to high risk patients that have no or very limited immunity. Please contact the veterinary center for more information.

SERVICES

We are currently seeing minimal patients based on installation guidance and risk assessment. If you feel you need an appointment, please call the Veterinary Center. We are still able to register new clients for future appointments. We are willing and able to answer questions from the community regarding their pets, and we have personnel at the Veterinary Center daily to do that.

During this pandemic emergency, pets and people each need the support of the other and veterinarians are there to support the good health of both.
