Welcome to a new year at Fort Carson and a new edition of The Mountain Post Magazine!

As we step into the year ahead, the Directorate of Family and Morale, Welfare, and Recreation (DFMWR) is excited to continue building meaningful experiences that bring our community together. A new year offers a fresh start—new goals, new traditions, and new opportunities to connect with one another, and our team is proud to support you every step of the way.

This year, we are looking forward to an expanded lineup of special events designed to celebrate our military community and the moments that matter most. From seasonal festivals and family-focused celebrations to events honoring our service members and their families, there is something on the horizon for everyone to enjoy. We are especially excited to kick off Spring Fest in April as we celebrate the Month of the Military Child, along with many more signature events planned throughout the year.

We are also thrilled to continue our run series, offering participants of all ages and abilities the chance to stay active, challenge themselves, and connect with the Fort Carson community in a fun and supportive environment. Whether you are chasing a personal goal or simply enjoying the camaraderie, these events are a great way to start the year strong.

At DFMWR, our mission remains unchanged: to enhance readiness, resilience, and quality of life for service members, their families, retirees, and civilians. Through recreation, fitness, leisure travel, and community events, we are committed to creating experiences that strengthen bonds and make Fort Carson feel like home.

Thank you for being part of this incredible community. We look forward to sharing another year of connection, celebration, and unforgettable moments with you.

Here's to a strong start and an exciting year ahead.

Sincerely,
Ryan J. Noble
Director of DFMWR

EAGLE SCOUT CONNOR MCCLEARY COMMUNITY HIGHLIGHT

A young leader leaving a lasting impact at Fort Carson's Rail yard

At just 14 years old, Connor McCleary has already demonstrated the leadership, initiative, and service-minded thinking that define Scouting's highest rank. With seven years of experience in Scouts, Connor completed his Eagle Scout project at Fort Carson's rail yard, creating improvements that support both Soldier readiness and community education.

Inspired by a conversation with his father, Connor recognized a practical need at the rail yard gazebo. The area lacked seating and shade relief during Colorado's hot summer months, particularly during periods when Soldiers and personnel are loading and unloading equipment. Seeing an opportunity to help, Connor developed a plan to improve both comfort and safety for those working in the area.

A Project with Purpose

Connor's Eagle Scout project included the installation of four benches and an arm immersion tank; a cooling system designed to help reduce body temperature and prevent heat-related injuries. These improvements now provide a functional rest and recovery space for personnel operating in high-heat conditions. The project was completed with the help of Troop 110, Colorado Springs, where Connor took on a leadership role by organizing Scouts into work teams and assigning responsibilities for assembling each bench.

“I want our troops to not get heat-related injuries and potentially go to the hospital,
Connor shared during his interview.”

When the project encountered an unexpected challenge, running out of screws during assembly, Connor adapted quickly, ensuring the work continued without delay. Beyond the physical improvements, Connor reflected on the leadership lessons gained throughout the process, noting the importance of clear communication and concise instructions — a key takeaway that highlights growth and self-awareness.

A Project with Purpose

Connor's involvement at the Fort Carson rail yard extended beyond his Eagle Scout project. He also played a role in supporting Scouting educational experiences held at the site, helping connect youth to real-world learning environments tied to transportation, logistics, and safety.

In November, Cub Scouts participated in a Railroading Merit Badge experience, where they toured the rail yard, learned rail safety, explored train operations, and even rode Fort Carson Army trains, gaining hands-on exposure to how rail systems support military logistics.

Connor served as an Assistant Merit Badge Counselor, helping guide Scouts through the experience. Additional merit badge events followed, including a Railroading Merit Badge class focused on railroad history, technology, signage, and careers within the rail industry, all conducted at the Rail-yard and Transportation Division Headquarters.

Scouts also completed a Truck Transportation Merit Badge, learning how trucking supports the supply chain, military operations, and freight movement across the United States, further highlighting the rail yard's role in transportation readiness.

A Lasting Impact

Through his Eagle Scout project and continued involvement in Scouting activities at the rail yard, Connor has helped transform the space into more than a worksite it is now a place of learning, safety, and community engagement. The benches and arm immersion tank provide tangible benefits for Soldiers, while the educational programs introduce Scouts to the importance of logistics, transportation, and service.

Earning the rank of Eagle Scout represents years of dedication and leadership, and Connor McCleary's work stands as a strong example of how young leaders can make a meaningful, lasting impact. Fort Carson is proud to recognize Connor for his commitment to service and his contributions to the community.

Class Schedule & Details

Get Your Vehicle Winter-Ready at the Auto Skills Center!

According to the Farmer's Almanac, the winter of 2025–2026 is predicted to bring cold temperatures and plenty of snow—summed up perfectly as “Chill, Snow, Repeat.” Before the storms roll in, make sure your vehicle is ready to handle Colorado’s unpredictable winter roads.

Alignment Class

Thursday, Jan. 30 | 6–8 p.m. | Cost: Free

📍 Auto Skills Center

Ever wondered why your tires are wearing unevenly or whether your vehicle really needs an alignment? This class covers the basics of your vehicle’s steering and suspension system, including how to identify issues with ball joints, tie rods, and hub bearings. Participants will also learn about the three critical alignment angles, caster, camber, and toe, and gain the knowledge needed to confidently discuss steering and suspension concerns with a vehicle technician.

Paint & Body Basics

Thursday, Feb. 20 | 6–8 p.m. | Cost: Free

📍 Auto Skills Center

Winter weather can be tough on your vehicle’s exterior. This class provides an overview of the tools, techniques, and procedures used to repair common paint and body damage caused by winter driving conditions. Learn practical tips to help restore and protect your vehicle’s appearance.

Car Care Clinic (Drive-Thru Inspection)

Wednesday, Mar. 19 | 5–7:30 p.m. | Cost: Free

📍 Auto Skills Center

Pull through the Auto Skills Center for a convenient drive-thru inspection. Auto Skills technicians will guide you through a visual check of your vehicle to help identify potential maintenance needs and keep you safely on the road.

About BOSS

Being stationed at Fort Carson comes with a world of opportunities—and one of the best is the Better Opportunities for Single Soldiers (BOSS) Program. Designed specifically for single and unaccompanied Soldiers, BOSS helps create balance by providing quality-of-life programs, community service opportunities, and recreational activities.

What BOSS Offers

- Quality of Life – BOSS works to identify and improve the issues that matter most to single Soldiers, ensuring their voices are heard in the Fort Carson community.
- Community Service – Whether volunteering at local events, supporting outreach programs, or lending a hand on post, BOSS gives Soldiers the chance to make a positive impact.
- Recreation & Leisure – From trips and outdoor adventures to game nights and cultural events, BOSS makes it easy to stay active, make friends, and have fun.

GrantLibrary

Grant Library

YOUR GATEWAY TO KNOWLEDGE, LEARNING & MORE

When you think of a library, you probably picture shelves of books — but at Grant Library, the story goes much deeper. Even without scheduled events to share this season, the library remains a vibrant hub of learning, discovery and community support for Soldiers, families and civilians on Fort Carson.

A Resource for All Ages

Grant Library is more than a place to check out books. Like other Army Morale, Welfare and Recreation (MWR) libraries, it offers resources and services designed to support education, career goals and everyday curiosity. Whether you're a student prepping for classes, a spouse brushing up on a new skill, or a child discovering the joy of reading, Grant Library has tools to help.

A World of Digital Access

Even if you can't make it to the physical library, Grant Library's online offerings bring the world of knowledge to your fingertips. Through the DoD MWR Digital Library, patrons can access:

- eBooks, audiobooks and magazines via platforms like OverDrive (Libby app) — from best sellers to classic titles.
- Language learning tools such as Mango Languages, with courses for beginners and advanced learners.
- Professional and academic resources, including research databases, test prep tools and reference materials.

These online resources are free and available anytime, whether you're at home, on post, or deployed — all you need is your DoD credentials.

Power Up Your Homeschool— For Free through MWR!

Your All-Access Guide for Fort Carson Families Homeschooling provides the stability and flexibility for military families to thrive through every PCS and deployment. At Fort Carson, a complete ecosystem of support is ready to empower your journey, blending hands-on learning at Grant Library, foundational support from Army Community Service (ACS) and Parent Central Services, and a universe of digital resources available 24/7—all at no cost.

Your Mission HQ at Grant Library

Begin your journey at Grant Library, your physical hub for hands-on resources, creative programs, and community connection.

Weekly Community & Creativity

- LEGO® Club: Every Wednesday from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. It's the perfect drop-in for weekly STEAM fun.
- Story Time & Art Programs: Build literacy and resilience through engaging, regularly scheduled library programs.

Supercharge Your Curriculum with the 24/7 Digital Library

Beyond the building, your library access unlocks a world of powerful online tools, free for military families. Visit army.dodmwrlibraries.org to access these game-changing resources:

For All Ages & Subjects

- Tutor.com: Get 24/7 on-demand, live tutoring for all K-12 subjects, from elementary math to high school physics. Essay writing help and test prep are also available.
- Scholastic Suite (BookFlix, ScienceFlix, TrueFlix): Engage young learners with interactive e-books, videos, and projects that make reading, science, and social studies exciting.
- OverDrive & Libby App: Access thousands of free e-books, audiobooks, and popular magazines like The New Yorker and National Geographic.
- Kanopy: Stream acclaimed documentaries, classic films, and The Great Courses series to supplement any lesson plan.

For Specialized Learning

- Miss Humblebee's Academy: A fun, interactive kindergarten-readiness program for children ages 3-6.
- LearningExpress: Prepare for the future with study guides and practice exams for ASVAB, CLEP, DSST, and SATs.
- Mango Languages: Learn over 70 different languages with an intuitive, fun, and effective platform.

Your Foundation of Support with ACS and Parent Central

While the library provides the educational tools, ACS and Parent Central Services are your first stops for navigating the journey.

- ACS: Your partner for family readiness. Connect with the Relocation Readiness Program when moving, your EFMP Manager for special needs advocacy, and parenting support classes to empower you as a home educator.
- Parent Central Services: This is your gateway to CYS programs that enrich your homeschool curriculum. Fulfill physical education requirements through Youth Sports, or enroll in arts, sports, and academic classes with SKIES Unlimited.
- School Liaison Officer (SLO): Your SLO is a key expert for all K-12 education matters, including helping you file your annual "Notice of Intent" and navigating state-specific homeschool laws.

Master Colorado's Homeschool Laws with Confidence

With your support system in place, you can confidently meet Colorado's requirements:

- Notify: Submit a "Notice of Intent" to a Colorado school district 14 days before you begin and resubmit annually.
- Instruct: Teach for 172 days (averaging 4 hours/day) covering core subjects like Reading, Writing, Math, Science, and History.
- Assess: In grades 3, 5, 7, 9, and 11, have your child take a nationally standardized test or be evaluated by a qualified professional.
- Record: Keep organized records of attendance, test results, and immunizations.

You've got this — and MWR has got you.

From your first registration at Parent Central to daily learning at Grant Library and round-the-clock digital access, Fort Carson offers a complete ecosystem for your family to thrive.

Start your homeschool adventure today!

Advance School Enrollment for Military Dependents

Inbound active-duty military members with orders to a Department of Defense installation in Colorado can utilize specific legislation to enroll their dependents in school remotely.

Key Highlights:
Remote Enrollment: Families can enroll electronically without appearing in person.
Residency Requirements: Orders cannot be used to establish residency, but enrollment may use the School Liaison Office address.
Required Documentation: Enrollment forms, proof of residency, and disciplinary records (due within 10 days of attendance).
Enrollment Opportunities: Access to specific schools, programs, courses, charter school enrollment, and open enrollment.

Additional Benefits: Guaranteed matriculation within the school or district.
Priority enrollment for younger siblings in future school years.
For more details on how this legislation applies to school registration in Colorado, contact the School Liaison Officer: (719) 526-2463
